PROGRAM PURPOSE

With the increasing number of children and adolescents being diagnosed with behavioral disorders, today's education professional must navigate the complicated and often confusing maze of mental health disorders that impact their students and may appear as intentionally disruptive behaviors. As more and more pressure is placed on schools to achieve positive student outcomes, collaboration between clinical specialists, administrators, general and special education teachers, paraprofessionals, and parents has never been more critical – and challenging!

The goal of this program is to provide the tools necessary for you to recognize and effectively intervene with PRACTICAL strategies in children and adolescents with mental health disorders; understand psychotropic medications prescribed including both the helpful effects and potentially problematic side effects, and develop effective strategies to assist these children, adolescents, and their families. You will also learn how to focus on identifying and addressing behavioral problems through understanding the mental health issues that create potential behavior problems.

Do these or other serious behavioral problems describe your child/adolescent, client, or student:

- Acting out and disruptive due to behavior, mental health, or BOTH?
- Distracted or too anxious and not completing work...
- Too depressed to do schoolwork....
- Absorbed in cutting themselves....
- Distracted by obsessive compulsive behaviors....
- Over-reacting to sensory issues....
- Having difficulties with tics from Tourette's Syndrome...

If so, take a PROACTIVE STEP toward creating a safe and productive environment for your child/adolescent client or student and ATTEND THIS PROGRAM.
